STATE RULES NORMA MUST NEVER SEE MURT AGAIN

DOUGLAS WILL TAKE FIGHT TO HIGHER COURTS

Norma was quoted as saying: "I was crying about the verdict, they tell me. Let him go. I'm sorry if people misunderstood me. I don't understand what it's all about."

Of her feelings, which she concealed to well early yesterday morning when the Norfolk jury stripped her of her post of innocent, doll-playing childhood, Norma said:

"It felt like the bottom had fallen out of everything. I was shocked and disappointed. Now I know I have to make the best of it."

MURT BARRED TO NORMA

Dewey's announcement of his interpretation of law and institutional regulations, holding that Norma may not ever again talk with her doomed husband, was made in the following statement:

"Unless the higher courts overturn the decision rendered by the Norfolk Superior Court jury, Norma and Murt cannot ever see each other."

Regardless what the United States Circuit Court of Appeals says on the plea of the Faber-Millens counsel that constitutional rights were invaded in refusing a jury trial and that a prejudiced jury was called, Norma will not benefit.

District Attorney Dewey further said:

"The most important part of the government's case in convicting Norma Miller was to prove that murder and robbery had been committed."

"That must have been established before the verdict was rendered."

But, in any case, Norma's attorney, George A. Douglas, announced that he would fight his client's conviction to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Attorney Douglas said that he is now preparing motions to be presented to the Norfolk Superior Court within a fortnight at the earliest, within 20 days at the latest, in which he will plead that the weight of the evidence was against the verdict of the jury.

JAIL ROUTINE PLANNED

He asserted that if the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court rejected the appeal he would carry it through to the country's court of last resort.

Sheriff Samuel H. Capen said

Norma would be placed on regular jail routine next week, he declared.

"We cannot compel her to do any work while she is awaiting sentence. If she wants to volunteer we will find plenty for her to do, such as mending."

"But I don't think she has done much mending."

"As for getting food from the outside, we will permit the family to have money for the purchase of such food. We do not encourage the bringing of food into the jail because ever in Middlesex County a girl once brought in chicken and in the chicken was a gun."

He was referring to the case of Jerry "The Poie" Geddum, who died in the electric chair after the gun plot had been foiled.

VISITORS LIMITED

So far as visitors are concerned, Norma next week will go on a regular schedule, the same as all the other prisoners. For those who want to see her there will be one visiting day a week during which a three-hour period between 1 and 4 o'clock will be set aside so two persons may talk with her in the jail.

Because of the divorce and estrangement of Norma's parents there are dramatic possibilities associated with this arrangement.

Norma will not be sentenced until fall. There is a bare possibility that she will have served her entire jail term by that time.

She had been in the Dedham House of Correction since March. By the time that the Norfolk Superior Court reconvenes—anytime after September 30—she will have been six months imprisoned.

Judge Brown can pronounce sentence that will permit Norma to be released. However, that is on probation and in the custody of some person recognized by the court as a responsible person.

In the case of a suspended sentence and probation, Norma would be freed with the customary restrictions of reporting to her probation officer for assurance of good behavior.

On the other hand there remains open the possibility of a straight sentence that would carry her to anything from a jail term to a three-hour Reformatory term.

If the sentence should be anything less than 2½ years for each

their peers that for the sake of an example to the younger generation, Norma should be punished.

Although District Attorney Dewey had told the jury that he would not insist upon a harsh sentence, he declared that he thought that Norma's conviction would be an object lesson to young girls with inclinations to obtain in an easy manner pretty clothes and luxurious living.

He declared also that the result of the trial might equally be an example for parents who are inclined to be too lenient in punishing their daughters.

MOVING TO FIGHT BAIL

Motions for a new trial and notice of appeal to the Supreme Court were filed yesterday by Attorney William H. Seaton, in behalf of "Abie" Faber.

Appeals for the Miller brothers have already been filed by George Stanley Harvey, their counsel.

While Norma's appeals only spell delay in the execution of whatever sentence Judge Brown may impose, the appeals of the Millers and Faber mean a possible means of stay of the sentence to the electric chair at Charlestown.

It is possible for Norma to be bailed in $25,000, but not probable. District Attorney Dewey said that he would oppose any move to free her on bonds, and stipulated that "under no condition" should she be admitted to bail without previous notification to him.

But the Millers and Faber will not be subject to the extra surveillance ordered shortly after their incarceration. According to present plans, the day-and-night shifts of state troopers will continue to occupy vantage spots in the cell corridor until the trio is transferred to state prison.

The day they are so transferred, barring stays by high authority, will mean that the three men are within ten days of execution.

AUSTRIA BOMB PLOTS SPREAD

By Associated Press

Vienna, June 25.—Bombs continued to pop throughout Austria today as terrorists carried on without a sign of abatement their destruction of bridges, power lines and railways.

Railroad tracks were torn up by a dynamite blast between Lohndorf and Hiltensberg, south of Vienna. Another railway line was blasted between Neuberg and Mauerbach, south of the popular mountain resort of Semmering. Near Seeshoden, in Carinthia, an explosion wiped out a highway bridge. In Vellach, the home of a pro-government political leader was bombed and one man was injured seriously.

Terrorists dropped charges into two water reservoirs in Tyrol, and in the same province, three men supporting high tension electric lines were blown up.

Residents of Graz this morning were awakened by a dynamite blast which blew up the stone bridge on Elizabeth street. Rocks were hurled great distances, and hundreds of windows of nearby buildings were shattered.

Turn to the classified page today and see the result of that appeal to her counsel with Barbara Hinson. She will save you both time and money.

MAN KILLED BY GRAVESTONE

Lewell, June 25.—Somebody else's combine was both cause and symbol of death for a man in a cemetery here today.

It crashed from the front of Vincent Meagher, 22, son of a local physician, Dr. M. G. Meagher, of 165 Branch street.

Meagher was at work with others holding the heavy stone onto a truck in St. Patrick's Cemetery. The hand bolt broke when the stone was nearly in the truck and fell on Meagher's chest. The workmen, including the victim's cousin, William Meagher, had a difficult job removing the stone. Vincent was dead on arrival at St. John's Hospital.

Police Rescue Drowning Man

Dashing into the water at the Strandway, near M street, South Boston, without removing their uniforms, three officers attached to the South Boston Police rescued John Taureman, 37, of Chicago, from the water.

The officers were Sergeant Byron J. Leonard and Patrolmen Byron McDonald and Paul Davis. The man was taken to the South Boston Hospital, where he was turned over to the Psychopathic Hospital for observation.

CONDENSED MOTHER'S REPRISAL ANSWERS SON'S PRAYER

'LAST MILE WALK' IS HALTED BY STORY

By International News Service.
Owning, N. Y., June 28.—Ten minutes before Mrs. Anna Antonio, 29-year-old mother of three children, was scheduled to walk her last few steps to the electric chair in the death house at Sing Sing Prison last night, Governor Herbert H. Lehman, in Albany, her home town, granted a 36-hour reprieve.

This was to permit him to investigate a statement by Vincent Satta, who was to have died with Samuel Feracl and Mrs. Antonio, in which Satta absolved the woman of all blame for the "insurance murder" of her husband, Salvatore, in Canton, N. Y., two years ago. If the investigation is sustained, the woman will draw a longer reprieve, possibly a new trial, possibly even freedom for the woman who had given up all hope, whose head had been shaved and who would not have been allowed to wear her hair.

No more tense situation and denouement ever took out from the gray walls of Sing Sing. So light did the emotional coils draw that Mrs. Antonio, when the hour set for execution came and passed, was dragged into an hour beyond what was to have been her last hour on earth, faint, and did not know until more than an hour after the word had gone that she would not die.

Even Warden Lewis E. Lawes was caught off guard by the dramatic sequence of events. At 6 o'clock last night all preparations had been made for the execution.

WIFE READY TO DIE
Patsy Connel, brother of Mrs. Antonio, entered the prison, to remain with her for the last possible time, stretched by the warden to a full hour beyond the usual end of visiting—8 o'clock.

Mrs. Antonio, Satta and Feracl had given up hope, prepared to die.

The two men at their last supper, Mrs. Antonio refused food, even for cream or water, saying she wanted to pray, with Patsy, her brother.

Nine o'clock came and Patsy had to leave.

"I am proud of my sister," she declared. "She is not afraid to die. She does not cry. She prays, but she is not afraid to die."

"She made me promise to make her Frankie be my own son. I told her I would do that, too, for her. Then she said she was ready to go, she could be happy then."

Ten o'clock came, and with it Satta went work that he must see the warden on something "most very important."

Warden Lawes went to the men's death house at 10:20.

Eleven o'clock, the hour of the execution, came. Still no word.

Midnight arrived. Twice there had been telephone calls from Albany. Twice the warden said:

"The matter is still being considered."

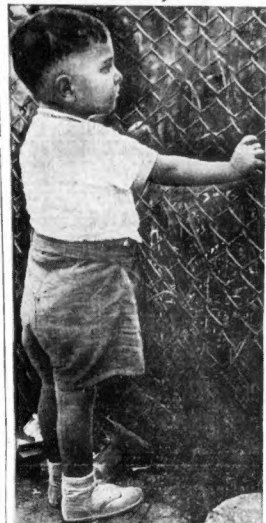

Another hour passed. A man came in.

SHE SHOULD HAVE BEEN DEAD
Mrs. Anna Antonio should have been dead, on the schedule, for two full hours. At 1:15 the warden announced:

"I am authorized to release a short statement by Governor Lehman. Here it is:

"I have directed the warden of Sing Sing Prison to postpone the execution of Mrs. Anna Antonio, Sam Feracl and Vincent Satta until Friday, June 29, to study and consider the long statement made by Vincent Satta just before 12 o'clock tonight, the general substance of which has been repeated to me over the telephone by Warden Lawes."

'I'll Be Back, Mama'

FRANKIE ANTONIO

Just before 1 o'clock Mrs. Antonio had collapsed, slipping quickly to the floor while Father McCaffery was helping her with prayers that had gone on for nearly two hours. A doctor was rushed to her side. He administered restoratives. She was told, quietly, that Governor Lehman was considering a new angle of her case and that Satta had taken the blame on his own shoulders, and absolved her. She and the two men were led back to their cells.

Satta's statement tends to absolve Mrs. Antonio from all implication in the murder. Warden Lawes said, Satta stated that he had owed Antonio $75 for some time but was unable to repay the loan, Antonio and he quarreled about the money, he said.

On the night of the murder, Satta said, he, Antonio and Feracl went for a ride in an automobile, during which Satta shot Antonio, Satta said, adding that he didn't know whether or not Feracl stabbed Antonio.

ABSOLVES WOMAN OF CRIME
Satta said that he had borrowed $50 from Mrs. Antonio before the murder and then borrowed another forty afterwards. She was in no way connected with the killing, he told the warden.

On the night of the murder, Satta said, he, Antonio and Feracl went for a ride in an automobile, during which Satta shot Antonio, Satta said, adding that he didn't know whether or not Feracl stabbed Antonio.

All the doomed mother had to leave to the kitchen as a few brief moments yesterday. Sobbing, she kissed little Frankie, aged three, what she thought was to be her last tender good-bye. Frankie, unaware of his mother's impending fate, played happily with a kitten in the prison corridor as he was led away, but later the daughters, Phyllis, nine, and Marie, seven, wept as their mother whirled in them.

In a brief and pathetic "will" she bequeathed the sewing machine to Phyllis. To Marie she left her wedding ring and her frayed wedding dress. She had nothing to give to Frankie except a holy image and the compass and needle she had sewed and knitted in her cell.

'PIRATED YACHT' IS ABANDONED ON BEACH

Scituate Coast Guard Finds Stolen Yawl at Cohasset

The 46-foot yawl Cumberland 2nd, of Boston, seized at New London, Conn., last Saturday by a "pirate," was found beached and abandoned in Cohasset harbor today, by Captain J. J. Glynn, of the North Scituate Coast Guard Station, Glynn said.

The pirate apparently ran the craft ashore, ordered the 15-foot, 550-pound schooner Mattabesett, but that was too much for him to manage, single-handed.

The stern board of the Cumberland had been removed and replaced, Capt. Glynn reported. The yacht's name had been changed to the Blue Comet.

A 35 caliber revolver was found under the ship's stern, apparently where the "pirate" threw it or dropped it before he left the beach.

'PIRATE' GONE

Capt. Glynn went to the scene early this morning after receiving a phone call from Lloyd Higgins, brother of the skipper, who reported that someone was trying to steal the larger craft.

The "pirate" was gone by the time he arrived, but an investigation revealed that a stranger had slept in a shack on the beach all night and was seen in the town in the early morning.

The owner of the Cumberland, Mrs. Margaret Love, of Malden, was notified at once, and left for Cohasset to identify the ship. She will also determine whether the ship was stripped of any valuable gear.

Man Fined $100 in Driving Case

Found guilty of charges of driving under the influence of liquor and drunkenness by Associate Justice Philip A. Kisly in the Lynn district court yesterday, Louis E. Zeller, 33 of Burr street, Jamaica Plain, was fined $100 on the former count and the other was $50. He appealed.

Zeller was arrested by State Trooper Francis Byrne early yesterday on the Newburyport tip-off in Saugus, after a slight collision.

Auto Chase Ends in Fine of $70

Following his arrest last Sunday after an alleged 80-mile-an-hour chase by Milton police, Abraham Blumstein, 26, of 19 Chestnut avenue, Somerville, was fined a total of $70 in Quincy District Court today on three counts of refusing to stop for an officer, giving a false name and operating negligently. Blumstein and his wife were released in bail of $300.

EMRESS' GEM IS REFUSED BY ASTOR BRIDE

Eugenie Diamond Is to Be Reset as Brooch, Says Young Astor

By DAVID P. SENTNER.
Copyright, 1934, International News Service.
Newport, R. I., June 29.—All social roads led to this fashionable spa today for the wedding of 18-year-old Ellen Tuck French and 21-year-old John Jacob Astor III, tomorrow.

The bride-to-be, was offered and turned down the $100,000 diamond ring known as the "Empress Eugenie Diamond," which the bridegroom had returned to him by his former fiancée, Eileen Gillespie, when 19-year-old engagement was broken.

"It will remain with the family jewels," young Astor said. "It will be set into a different brooch."

'HAPPY' A GUEST

Thus may unpleasant memories be smothered when the rare gem has its face lifted.

Among the scheduled guest arriving today was Francis O. French, father of Ellen, who divorced her mother some years ago. French brought as his personal wedding guest, Ernst Francis Sedgewick Hanfstaengl, Hitler's favorite musician, visiting America for the 25th reunion of his class at Harvard, the second Mrs. French accompanied her husband.

Although Mrs. Lovington French objected to the presence of Hanfstaengl, the Naad aide, at her daughter's wedding, her former husband insisted on his presence.

"I have 99 invitations to use the way I desire," he said, in an interview. "Hanfstaengl is my guest."

Young Astor confirmed the news that French, descendant of a Lord Governor of Ireland, and a New York taxicab driver for several years, would give the bride away.

French is now an insurance agent. He said that his health was better and that he hoped his mother, Mrs. Ernst Hanfstaengl, would be able to attend the wedding.

NO SETTLEMENT MADE

Ellen's father, in an interview with International News Service, denied reports that John Jacob Astor had made any financial settlement with his daughter.

"I am sure there is no such arrangement," he said. "A marriage settlement is an American thing. In an American, a happy marriage would be settled by the father."

"Does Jack (the bridegroom) love Tuck? I don't see why he should want to marry her if he didn't, and I know she is very fond of him. I think they are both going to be very happy."

French, who prides himself on his ancestry, described his first and second wives as both very sure women.

The second Mrs. French and the first Mrs. French are going to have classes of wine together at the wedding, he chuckled.

"Isn't that so, dear?"

The second Mrs. French said: "I hadn't thought about it."

French paid tribute to his son-in-law as a "very intelligent young man—and most friendly."

Q—How does it feel to be the father-in-law of one of the world's richest young men?

A—It doesn't affect me a bit. I'm just the father of the bride.

Q—Will the relationship help your insurance business?

A—Not a bit. You can't sell insurance on a name.

Young Astor revealed that his wedding gift to his bride was an automobile and small pieces of jewelry.

"If any of our parishioners want to attend the ceremony, but haven't cards, they will be admitted as long as there is room."

Rev. James Green, assistant pastor of old Trinity Church, declared.

And when John Jacob Astor III was asked to comment on this ultimatum, he responded mildly: "The custom of Trinity Church will be observed."

Crash Victim Dies, Still Unconscious

John McLean, 31, of Commonwealth avenue, Brighton, in an automobile crash Wednesday night in the rear of Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden, died today at Massachusetts Hospital, Malden, without having recovered consciousness. Only a few hours before he died, McLean was identified by his brother Daniel. The driver, also apparently badly injured, fled the wreckage.

Starting Today!

"Bond's shoot some fireworks" with The Half-Yearly Sale of Two Trouser Suits

Let's start with a bang! How's this?—you can pick any suit* in the store!! Or this?—price-cuts range up to 24%!! Or this?—full selections at each price!! Sweet music for scores of men who like to save money—but who are tired of trying to choose from picked-over odds-and-ends • • • Simply decide which of our Sale prices best fits your pocketbook—and then go to it! You'll see everything from distinguished conservatives to jaunty sportsmen. And you can write your own ticket when it comes to color and pattern. Even six lots of brand new Fall suits are included! They were rushed through our factory to meet the demand for darker fabrics—and have been on our racks less than three weeks. But they're going into this Sale, regardless • • • Better get here early while pickings are best—because these Bond Half-Yearly Price-Cuts do get the crowds!

*Summer fabrics not included

No charge for alterations!

BORAH CERTAIN NATIONS WILL PAY DEBTS

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

Washington, June 23.—Europe's governmental debt to the United States will be paid eventually, if America refuses to cancel them, Senator William E. Borah (R) of Idaho, predicted today. The Senate declared:

"Eventual settlement of the debt situation depends largely upon the attitude of our government. If we stand firmly for payment, payments, in my judgment, will be made."

"These great countries are not going to move down the years with repudiation written across their records. When it becomes clear that there is to be no cancellation, in my opinion, there will be payments. They are not going to take a decree of moral bankruptcy from the world's court of public opinion."

WELTH DISTRIBUTION

On the redistribution of wealth, he said:

"What the next phase in America's economic development may be, one may only guess. It should be and, everyone who loves his country hopes it will be, a more equitable distribution of wealth, a just distribution of those things which make for the comforts and pleasures of life."

"It has been estimated that four percent of our people own eighty percent of our wealth. Suppose it is ten percent. A quarter of a century of the same trend as the last quarter of a century would leave two percent of our people in possession of ninety percent of our wealth."

DISCUSES PROHIBITION

"Free government, personal liberty, economic freedom are impossible under such circumstances. Our institutions, our whole scheme of civilization, depends upon a more equitable distribution of wealth—not through violence or a system of repudiation, I trust, for there is no permanency in such distribution, but through laws and policies which will compel a better sharing of those who make the wealth of the country with those who possess it."

Johnson Stands by Blue Eagle Rule

Washington, June 23 (AP)—Hugh S. Johnson said today he would "stand by" his ruling talking the Blue Eagle from the Harbort-Henry Mills, despite Attorney-General Cummings' decision that there was not sufficient evidence for prosecution.

"New Deal" Verdict Up to Nation Says Roosevelt on Air

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

International News Service Staff Correspondent Washington, June 23.—President Roosevelt challenged the country today to vote thumbs up or down on the new deal.

His radio speech, carried into millions of homes last night, in fact and in theory, constituted an invitation to the country to indicate its approval or disapproval, in the forthcoming Congressional elections, of what has been accomplished under his leadership.

Pitching his talk in a friendly, intimate, tone, as he has done on previous occasions, Mr. Roosevelt revealed that the Democratic, or new deal campaign, this summer is to be conducted along aggressive lines.

FIRST, a staunch defense of what has been accomplished.

SECOND, a vigorous offensive against the remnants of the old deal.

THIRD, a promise of better things to come as the cards of the new deal are further shuffled and dealt.

STRIKES KEYNOTE

He struck the keynote of the administration campaign in these words:

"The simplest way for each of you to judge recovery lies in the plain facts of your own individual situation. Are you better off than you were last year? Are your debts less burdensome? Is your bank account more sizable? Are your working conditions better? Is your faith in your individual future more firmly grounded?"

The President and his advisers believe that the answer to these average citizen's questions must be "Yes." If not, then the new deal must be an acknowledged failure. They don't believe it is, and they don't believe the country will say so in November.

They believe that the re-opening of the banks has benefited millions of people; they believe that through the various relief activities debts have been made less burdensome; that through the NRA, several millions have been painlessly re-employed, at better wages and shorter hours; and that on the whole John J. Citizen now feels more cheerful about the future than he did in the dark days of February in 1933.

Relief has been provided, he reported, and, in so doing, he warned that the problem is still present and will continue to be a government problem for many years to come. Recovery, he reported, is well under way. Reconstruction, he said, that is just beginning. The 75th Congress took several long strides in that direction, but the 76th will go further, if he has his way.

Mr. Roosevelt did not forget his critics.

"It is the minority, not the overwhelming majority of farmers and manufacturers who deny

U. S. PLANS NEW NOTE ON DEBT TO EUROPE

By International News Service

Washington, June 23.—Having sharply criticized the policies of Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany in their relation to suspension of foreign debt payments, Secretary of State Cordell Hull today prepared to deliver another verbal lash to the other European debtor nations which have decided to stop making any more payments on the ten billion dollars owed American taxpayers.

Moved by the action of the European debtor nations in abruptly terminating further payments to this country, Secretary Hull was drafting a strongly worded statement in response to the latest British note rejecting his offer to consider payment of the debts in goods and services and asserting drastic reduction was more important than methods by which payments might be made.

Hull discussed the statement with President Roosevelt and its issuance depended upon White House approval.

Quincy Rum Fraud Suspect in Jail

Henry Gillard, 35, of Savannah, Georgia, sought by Quincy police for more than a year on a charge of obtaining money on false pretenses, is serving a jail term in Philadelphia. It was learned today, Gaillard and Hawley Ford, of New York, now in Dedman jail, swindled Harry Woodhouse, of Quincy out of $146 in liquor fraud. It is charged.

QUEER BRIDGE IS PLAYED BY U. S. EXPERTS

By Associated Press
Chicago, June 29.—Perhaps it was the best, which bridge dealer the 100 mark, but there was some odd bridge played by 22 pairs of masters who joined issue last night, seeking the American Whist League's contract pair championship.

Taking two of the 30 hands played as examples, in one a psychic bid outmaneuvered opponents who had an easy vulnerable game, in the other only one of the sixteen pairs of experts who played the hand East and West had an easy grand slam.

The psychic: West dealer; East-West vulnerable.

The bidding went as follows at the table where L. Rosenblatt and P. Rosenberg of Chicago held the north and south hands. Rosenblatt went down five for a loss of 200, undoubtedly, which was the smallest minus sustained by any of the north-south pairs, giving his pair a top score for the board.

Where the experts mostly missed North dealer, east and west vulnerable.

The hand is an easy grand slam in clubs for east and west, by any system of bidding, but only Miss Elizabeth Whittney and Dr. F. W. Rhoe, Jr., Dr. Hart and Mrs. Horne Evans and Leon Mandel and A. Gilman, all Chicago pairs, actually bid it.

Thirteen other teams contented themselves for the most part with a five club bid.

Forced to Wed at Thirteen, Wife Says

Testimony that she was forced to marry a 45-year-old man seven years ago, when she was only 13 years of age, was presented by Mrs. Helen B. Turner, 71, of Winthrop, before Judge John C. Leggat in Middlesex court today.

Mrs. Turner and four other women secured divorces in Judge Leggat's uncontested divorce session. The petition of another woman was taken under advisement, so further testimony might be presented.

Mrs. Turner told the court she was married in Ames G. Turner of Sandgate, Vt., in January, 1927. She said her father, who brought about the marriage, swore to authorities that she was 18 years old at the time.

Her plight was discovered by Vermont authorities, she said, and she was taken in their custody and returned to this state. Her testimony was corroborated by Mrs. Bertha J. Berger, wife of a judge, who testified that she was 18 years old at the time.

The suit of Mrs. Margaret E. Wilson of Wakefield for divorce from Charles E. Wilson of Wakefield, on grounds of unfaithfulness, was taken under advisement. She testified that her husband left her for three weeks, and returned with another woman, who introduced herself as his wife. Her husband said he could not explain his action, she testified.

Mrs. Doris D. Webster of Arlington obtained a divorce from Herbert A. Webster of Framingham on grounds of cruelty. She testified she was married last July, and that her husband struck her frequently and has refused to support her.

Mrs. Fania C. Gray, of Chelmsford charged George L. Gray, of Boston, with unfaithfulness, and declared he was living with another woman. She produced two witnesses to corroborate her story. Judge Leggat granted her a divorce.

Mrs. Tess C. Thompson, of Malden, secured a divorce from Herbert Thompson, also of Malden, on grounds of cruelty. She said she kissed him at a New Year's Eve party, and that he struck her and walked away. He also struck her on other occasions, she said. She received a degree.

VAN ARSDALE, 2 OTHERS DIE IN PLANE CRASH

Ray C. Van Arsdale, 35, of Newtonville, broker and noted amateur golfer, died at the Cape Cod Hospital, Hyannis, today, of injuries suffered last evening when his private airplane crashed in the Barnstable woods, killing two passengers.

Van Arsdale's wife, whom he was en route to visit at Long Beach, was with him when he died. He had received internal injuries and broken limbs.

TWO OTHERS KILLED
John L. Binda, 45, of Boston and Painmouth, and proprietor of the Hyannis Coffee House, was instantly killed in the accident which resulted when Van Arsdale lost his bearings in fog, while seeking the Hyannis airport.

Edward J. McDonald, 21, broker's chauffeur and second passenger in the plane, died at the Cape Cod hospital a short time after the crash.

Van Arsdale was a business as well as a sportsman. He was a member of the national golf champion. Van Arsdale, Quimel and Danforth toured Europe in the former's plane earlier this year following the Walker Cup matches. Van Arsdale had been eliminated early this week from the state open championship at Oysterville.

PILOT CUTS SWITCH
The plane, a four-seater cabin monoplane, was returning from Boston to the Van Arsdale summer home at Oysterville when the crash occurred.

Van Arsdale lost his bearing in the fog which hung over the Cape. He lowered his altitude, cleared Barnstable harbor and turning inland crashed into the top of the tree about a mile from Barnstable Village.

The pilot cut the switch as the plane plunged to the ground and prevented it from catching fire. Binda had been many years in the United States consular service. He was a Harvard graduate and the son of an old Italian family.

McDonald is survived by his mother, Mrs. Della McDonald of Farwell street, Newtonville, a sister and three brothers.

ARREST MADE IN MAIL THEFTS IN BACK BAY

Search of two years for a persistent mail box thief in the Back Bay was believed by police to have been ended today with the arrest of William E. Jordan, 33, of North Hollisburgh, chauffeur on call for a number of prominent Back Bay families.

Jordan was arrested in a Back Bay garage after specimens of his handwriting had been compared with endorsements on postoffice money orders alleged to have been stolen from apartment house mail boxes.

According to police he admitted the charge and offered to make restitution. Postoffice inspectors and a Bureau detective took him to the postoffice to be looked over by clerks, who cashed some of the money orders.

$50,000 HELD IN PHELAN SUIT

An attachment for $50,000 has been served on Mrs. Marjorie Phelan, socialite of Seaview Avenue, Marshfield, as the result of a suit filed against her yesterday in Salem Superior court. The $50,000 was asked by Bert Cummings, a Negro jockey of Lynn, who asserts that he is partially paralyzed and unable to ride because he was thrown by Mrs. Phelan's horse, Altissima, at Topfield two years ago. In filing the action, Mrs. Olive R. Walters, of Tremont street, acting as Cummings' attorney, described the horse as a "killer," that has caused injuries to a number of riders.

BOY SEIZED IN HIT-RUN CASE

J. Clayton Mosher, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Mosher, 106 Washington street, Newton, a sophomore of Newton High School, was arrested today charged with driving without a license, using a car without authority and leaving the scene of an accident without making himself known.

The boy is alleged to have driven a stolen car that struck Richard Haas, 9, of 5 Hosmer circle, West Newton, yesterday, on Washington street, Newton. An 18-year-old youth, arrested with Mosher, was charged when he told police Mosher had said the car belonged to his uncle.

Haas is in Newton Hospital with a fractured left ankle and fractured elbow. The case was continued to July 13 for juvenile court.

Newton Boy to Hike 700 Miles

William W. Blair, Jr., 17, of Knowles street, Newton, Newton High school student, will start Monday on a 700-mile hike to the home of his uncle in Truro, N. S.

The youth said he would not accept any rides and planned to cover the entire distance on foot. He expects to spend five weeks there and return here by train. The youth was born in Truro, but came to Newton at the age of four years.

WEDDING BELLS will ring up at Bar Harbor, Maine, on Saturday for the marriage of Miss Eleanor McCormick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. McCormick of Chicago, and Sargent Collier, son of Mrs. V. Pomeroy Collier of Brookline.

The setting will be the Church of Our Father in Hull's Cove and a reception will be held after the ceremony on the estate of the McCormicks. . . . A large dinner dance is being given this evening for the bride party at the Bar Harbor Club, which opens for the season on Saturday.

Miss Helen McCormick, sister of the bride, is the maid of honor and the bridesmaids will be Miss Eleanor Collier, the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Volney Foster Righter, a cousin of the bride, Mrs. Conway Olmstead, and Miss Dorothy Ranney of Chicago. Mr. Truxton Harve (Winifred Thoms) of Boston who now resides in Philadelphia and Miss Barbara Wendell of Chicago and Boston, granddaughter of Mrs. Barrett Wendell.

A group of Boston men will serve as ushers for this important event in social circles: Messrs. Hollis Hunnewell of Boston is to be best man and the ushers will be J. Brooke Fernald, Jr., John D. Leland, Samuel C. Houghton, Horace H. Soule, Harry J. Nelson, all of Boston, and Samuel E. Ewing, Jr., of Philadelphia. F. Murray Forbes, Jr., and Robert H. McCormick, 34, were to be in the ushers corps but Mr. Forbes is in Europe and Mr. McCormick is in England, manager of the 1934 Yale-Harvard crew.

The Philip K. Shuberts (Elsie Burr) are domiciled at Yarmouthport on the Cape for the summer. . . .

Choir in Concert at Gloucester

MRS. LYON WEYBURN (Ruth Anthony), of Fride's Crossing, has charge of the publicity for a concert by the choir of the Greek Orthodox Church to be held at the Hammond Memorial Museum in Gloucester on Wednesday evening, July 18, at 8:45 for the benefit of the Home and School Vendors' Association and the Beverly Farms Music School. Mrs. Charles M. Cabot, of Ipswich, is chairman of the committee and Mrs. Charles Putnam Smith, of Amherst, is in charge of tickets.

Young Amory Lawrence and William Ladd are on a sheep ranch in the West for the summer. . . . many of the debutantes have gone dune-ranching in Wyoming.

The Howard Turners are enjoying at Manchester-by-the-Sea and will be at Biddeford Pool for the month of August. Mrs. Alice West Motus will remain at her town house on Beacon Street for the summer, until the arrival of the stock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer, 24 (Rose Motus), in Chicago, when she will travel West.

The Thomas Barbour and family are going to Africa to shoot wild game during the hot months. . . .

Mrs. Lawton Champie (Nancy Crocker) is on from Two-Sea Ranch to spend the summer with her family at North-west Harbor. . . .

Mrs. Richard Evelyn Byrd, wife of Commander Byrd, with her four children, has taken the Henry S. Grew estate at West Manchester for the summer. . . . this is their first season on the North Shore.

Cohasset Carnival Is Success
THE COHASSET CARNIVAL WAS SIMPLY stupendous! Rarely if ever have we seen such enthusiasm, such abandon, such eat, play and be very, very merry. . . . the whole town turned out to assist the committee in securing the flesh pots of the three charities so dear to the hearts of Cohasseters. . . .

Over five hundred sat on the lawn of the little white church in the square and partook of a delicious home-cooked supper. . . . the ladies of the Friendly Society nearly lost their equanimity in the rush of business, but not quite. . . . the old Massanut spirit triumphed, "E pluribus unum". . . .

Quite the piece de resistance of the evening was Ralph Menard in his grandmother's shift, taking everything, with night cap perched away on his abundant tresses. . . . too, too, screamingly ridiculous. Mrs. Menard had long since gone to the arms of Morpheus tired out with the arduous duties of the day. . . .

The midway was a riot. . . . crowds, hordes of people milling about, hitting the B. . . . in the head, shooting the works, pitching horsebuses, socking lobsters for a prize. . . . we bagged a wild duck but left the golden egg in the hands of a willing banker. . . .

Dancing on the Village Green
THE YOUNG CROWD WAS HAVING THE TIME of their lives dancing on the village green. . . . we glimpsed pretty Katie Johnson in a natty white ensemble the center of an admiring throng. . . . Martha and Joan Chapin were sauntering with swains, and Virginia Tolman and Priscilla Hoyt looked happy. . . .

Mrs. Robert Knowles, the Paul Reveres, the John Austins, all good old Puritan names, went about singing. . . . G. Ward Christian Soldiers, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Benson ate hot buttered pop-corn nonchalantly. . . .

Others noted were Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bell, Mr. and Mrs. J. Franklin McGowan, Mr. and Mrs. Horace T. Gleason, the William B. Longs, Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Cunner, Sally Adams, Mr. and Mrs. George Dewson, the George Benais, Mr. and Mrs. William Ball, Rice, Mrs. L. Q. White, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bancroft, Jr., Mariel Crocker, Dr. and Mrs. Charles J. White, the Horace Drinkwaters. . . . why go on? Cohasset outdid herself for the cause of sweet charity. . . .

Chatty Notes of Social Circles
MR. AND MRS. H. S. EALDWIN of Longwood Towers are among the recent arrivals at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Paul Becker of this city are being much feted during their summer home at North Haven, Maine, for the season. . . .

MISS HAMELLE COCHRANE, the debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Douglas Cochran of Boston, has joined her parents at their summer home at North Haven, Maine, for the season. . . .

CIRCUS PRICES CUT IN HALF FOR X-9ERS

Two more circus matinees remain—including today—for members of the Secret Agent X-9 Club. Therefore, boys and girl members are reminded to journey over to Andrew square in South Boston if they want to see the show for half price.

All members of the Secret Agent X-9 Club are admitted to the circus matinees at the cut rate on display of their membership cards and badges, under arrangements made by the Big Chief.

Through the co-operation of the board of directors of the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus, second largest circus in the world, and the Boston Evening American, members of the X-9 club are invited to attend any matinee performance for the remainder of the week.

All the members have to do is go to the main entrance, show your X-9 badge or membership card and for the sum of 25 cents you will receive a grandstand ticket.

Under the Big Top you will witness one of the greatest spectacles ever presented in Boston for a winter.

Clyde Beatty, world famous for his death-defying act, will be 40 lions and tigers in a huge cage.

Circus Thrills Wait X-9ers

ROSE RIEFFENACH MITZI RIEFFENACH

Among the thrills that await the members of the Secret Agent X-9 Club at the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus, Andrew Square, South Boston, will be the fancy riding of Rose and Mitzi Rieffenach, European stars, who are shown with one of their favorite horses, "Silver King." X-9 members will be admitted for 25 cents if they wear their badges and show their membership cards. (Picture by Boston Evening American Staff Photographer.)

TUNNEL HOLDUP CHARGED BY COUNCILLOR

City officials were charged with "holding motorists up at the point of a gun" and conspiracy to force citizens to use the new $100,000 East Boston traffic tunnel, in a statement issued by City Councillor Henry Selvitella of East Boston.

He protested that City Hall officials had ordered the closing of Alford street to all traffic coming from Everett to Sullivan square, Charlestown.

He charged that the officials had barred vehicles of over six tons' capacity using the North Chelsea drawbridge between Chelsea and Charlestown, and had planned the curfew of ferry service "all for the purpose of holding up motorists at the point of a gun and requiring them to use the tunnel."

The new tunnel will be officially opened at noon tomorrow.

Under the direction of Frederick Lamb, 100 members of the Greater Boston ERA chorus will sing tomorrow at the opening of the new East Boston tunnel. Sunday this same group will give a concert at 9:30 p. m. at the Rose Garden, in the Fenway, Arthur Wilson directing.

Thomas F. Sullivan, chairman of the transit commission under whose administration the tube was completed, will represent the mayor at the exercises and Mrs. Maudfield will cut the ribbon that will open the tunnel to traffic.

Governor Ely and John F. McDonald, associate commissioner and Congressman John J. Douglas are scheduled to speak. The toll will range from 25 cents for a pleasure car to a $1 limit for trucks of 10 tons capacity. Motorists who run out of gasoline in the tunnel will be required to pay $1 a gallon.

PODERJAY BRIDE CLUE SOUGHT IN N. E.

The search for the missing Mrs. Agnes Tufverton Poderjaj, mysteriously missing New York lawyer-bride of "Captain" Ivan Ivanovich Poderjaj, turned today to New Hampshire and Maine.

Former classmates of the missing woman, now living in the two New England states, are to be questioned by Detective Sergeant Hugh Sheridan, in the check of clues regarding the whereabouts of Mrs. Tufverton Poderjaj.

Sheridan left Boston last night on circuit of the classmate's homes, before returning to this city and then to New York.

Bride Alive, Will Help Him, States Poderjaj

New York, June 28.—"I detain" Ivan Poderjaj, the dashing Yugoslavian, has told Vienna police, it was disclosed here, that his missing wife, Agnes C. Tufverton, New York attorney, is alive.

Poderjaj, held in Vienna with another "wife," Mrs. Suzanne Ferland, said also that Miss Tufverton, whose disappearance last December 20 has caused an international search, will come to his aid when she learns of his difficulties.

Miss Tufverton, the Yugoslavian said, entrusted him with approximately $25,000 in cash and securities before their marriage. She gave him, he said, securities to the value of 1,200,000 dinars to dispose of for her and later cabled him 100 English pounds sterling.

The statements were contained in a 14-page report of the examination of Poderjaj by Vienna police, which was forwarded to New York and made public by Assistant Chief Inspector John J. Sullivan.

Poderjaj's statement was given out as city chemists announced that scrapings taken from the cabin he occupied on the liner Olympia when he returned to Europe a few days after his wedding showed no traces of blood.

Freed in Holdup Yet Is Held Again

Proed of an armed robbery charge through lack of identification, Wong Wing Yee, 27, Harris son avenue, South End, was again in police toils today charged with violation of the narcotic acts. News From Along Boston's Waterfront

By WILLIAM F. MAGUIRE

More than 1400 passengers, the largest number to sail in any ship Europe-bound from Boston in years, were on board the Italian liner Statina, when she left Commonwealth Pier 10, South Boston, at 10:30 a. m. today.

Every available stateroom was taken. Lack of room prevented the ship from breaking the record of the flagship of the line, which left New York on Saturday with 1920 passengers, the highest transatlantic total in some time.

The cruise itinerary will include visits and excursions ashore at the Azores, Lisbon, Gibraltar, Cannes, Naples, Palermo, Patras, and the island of Rhodes, and the Venetian lagoon.

Among the passengers were: Mr. and Mrs. Davenport Brown, 306 Beacon street; Gleason L. Archer, son of the dean of the Suffolk Law School; Dr. Garetano Pallace, 44 Pennington road, Brookline, honored by the Italian Government two years ago by being made commendatore for his professional and social service to the Italian colony in Boston and Brookline for the past 25 years; his wife and two children.

Others were: Philip P. Finn, William Doyle, Albert C. Doyle, Miss Alice M. Hatch, Mrs. P. A. Wentworth, Miss R. H. Wentworth, A. F. Cleveland, Mrs. A. F. Cleveland, Mrs. Christine L. Cleveland, Mrs. J. R. Barnes, Miss Lucy B. Brown, Miss C. Moore, Miss Alice Gage, Miss C. P. Ligon and Mr. and Mrs. M. Dutton.

NOTES

A wireless message received today from the Cunard liner Lamonia on her way from Liverpool, Queenstown and Galway, stated the vessel expects to arrive here at 1 a. m. Monday and dock at 8 a. m. at the Custom Pier, East Boston.

She has 100 passengers for Boston, 200 tons of express freight and several hundred sacks of mail.

All kinds of monkey shins were performed at the army base today, when 200 monkeys were taken off the steamer City of Khios, while the ship was being unrigged. The ship arrived from Calcutta, Colombo, Aden, Port Sudan and Port Said, en route to New York, where the monkeys will be landed.

THAT TIRED "OFFICE" LOOK—

—and then he Smoked a Camel!

NEED ENERGY?

Here's the latest word from Science on increasing Vim and Energy...quickly!

Today we call attention again to important facts which were presented to smokers in a recent item in this paper.

You can release new vigor, when tired, by smoking a Camel.

This comes from the "energizing effect" in

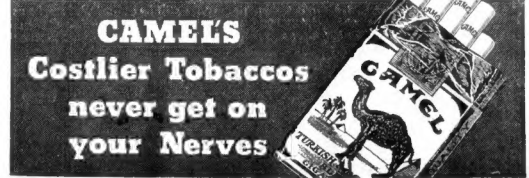

Camels as recently confirmed and described by a famous New York scientific laboratory.

Everyone gets fatigued...cross...down in the dumps...when his energy is used up. But the way to turn on more energy has now been pointed out, by actual Camel smokers who tell of their own experiences. And by up-to-date research made in the laboratories of science.

And so—"get a lift with a Camel!" Any time you want to enjoy yourself or restore yourself. Steady smoking need not concern Camel smokers, since the finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS in Camels never get on your nerves.

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand.

"Get a LIFT with a Camel!"

GARWOOD JR. OUTBOARD REGATTA

By E. B. Schrifflinger

The thousands of high-powered exhausts brought backboard racing to Lake Quinzema in Worcester today as the advance guard of school and college pilots arrived to tune up their boats and engines for the national title races which start this afternoon.

Boaters, which were the 1933 title and Yale, winter two years ago, headed the list of outboard racing.

Dartmouth, Harvard, Brown, Boston University and Worcester Polytechnic were all represented among the New England colleges, and from more distant points came divers wearing the colors of Cornell, Columbia, Syracuse, Stevens Tech, Northwestern, Bucknell and Pennsylvania.

In addition to the collegians, there was a large delegation of schoolboy riders, including the title a year ago for Iowa Prep, now a freshman, and a member of the Rutgers outboard team, leaving the school title wide open.

One of the favorites is Cini Giacalone, youthful Yale rider, who is son of Commodore Stanley W. Ferguson of the Central New England Regatta Association. Cini builds the Class A amateur title, won a year ago at the World Regatta in Chicago.

The most famous name on the entry is that of Gar Wood Jr., whose father, the "Silver Fox" of Detroit, has won more national titles with his famous Miss America than any other living driver.

COULDSIMIN STRETCHES

By Walter Kiley

An onslaught of record breaking, in prospect tomorrow when the nation's greatest track and field athletes vie for honors in the 47th annual American outdoor championship at Marquette University in Milwaukee.

The roster of names sound like the Who's Who of American athletics. Glenn Cunningham, Billy Bonham, Ralph Metcalfe, Bill Graber, Tom Pugh, Walter Marty, George Spitz, John Pollock, Chuck Horner, Buller Boat, Kead, Percy Board and Glen Harlan.

Naturally, the fifth meeting, which will be the most highly anticipated event of the season, is the 80-meter race with Cunningham coming back after the mile to make the mile race. Cunningham is the most highly anticipated event of the season.

Frank Crumit, who has been in the spotlight since he was a boy, is the most highly anticipated event of the season.

JUNIOR BIRDMEN OF AMERICA

By L. F. ROSS

Boston Wing Commander

Well, Junior Birdmen, let's get our first contest model under way! Having completed an all-Bala glider and your first flying model, you should have very little trouble in constructing a real championship endurance plane.

The single stick endurance model, which we are to start on this date, is the purchasing of materials, such as a thirty-six (36) inch wing span.

When that completed you may enter it in the New England Model Plane Derby to be held on Saturday, July 7.

The 36-inch wing span comes within the contest rules and the model will weigh over three (3) ounces so that weight requirements will also be adhered to in the Derby.

An entry blank and a book of rules can be obtained from the Junior Birdmen of America.

There are all standard model builders' materials, and you should have no trouble in obtaining any of it. In buying your propeller, look for medium Bala, as this will be of definite help in carrying your propeller.

Much of the work on this model will be identical to the construction details of the low-wing flyer, except that all members of this new plane will be proportionately larger.

The next lesson will appear in the Junior Birdmen column in the Boston Sunday Advertiser. Don't miss it!

Don't Miss Thrills of Star Performers
